Profile of a Redskin

Through individuals, we Redskins share a common profile.

The some 2,400 students and teachers who are Emmerich Manual High School study and grow together through classroom activities and club associations, influenced by many events all of which shape the profile of a Redskin.

EMMERICH MANUAL TRAINING
HIGH SCHOOL

Dedication in a competent faculty member like Mr. Ray Schultz aids us in growing up to understand the world about us as we spend many hours each day in the classroom.

Our School Day Activities

On Friday mornings before going to Home Room, some seventy Manual Booster agents stop by the Publications Office to pick up their bundles of papers.

Whether for research or leisure-time reading, our library offers everyone something.

Eating is fun, and some 2,300 Redskins will agree that lunch periods are an opportune time for relaxing and having a friendly chat with fellow classmates.

Blend to Etch Our Profile

Our studies provide the basis for the Redskin profile by supplying the opportunities for educational development in vocational as well as scholastic fields. Our daily school activities outside the classroom add cultural and social background that helps build the profile through a variety of experiences.

During the last week of school, the Student Projects Fair displays the year-long accomplishments of pupils for viewing by parents, teachers, and other students.

The Indianapolis Symphony entertains for a 3A-3B Auditorium.

"It's red, it's white—go Manual fight!" Redskins all, we yell loud and clear letting our team know we're behind them all the way as they prepare for Sectional play.

After-Class-Hours 'Doings' Add

These smiling faces reflect the enthusiasm typical of the some 300 Manualites who participated in the all-school Redskin Revue.

Formal social occasions enliven the year with new and exciting experiences. For Janie Murphy, it was being crowned Military Ball Queen.

Coach Wayne Dunbar briefs our "Exercise in Knowledge" team—Russell Brooker, Bob Smithers, Linda Ellis, and Don Switzer—that progressed to the semi-finals.

Interest, Perspective to Our Lives

The spirit of Manual forms our profile as we proudly cheer the Redskin Marching Band, sympathetically console a losing team, or diligently work together to perfect a worthwhile production. These shared moments teach us human understanding that blends our individual lives into the profile of a Redskin.

On a May afternoon, Manual students and patrons watch as the ROTC Battalion parades in review on the football field for Federal Inspection.

Homecoming Activities

Fete Royalty, Alums

A regal Homecoming procession, a football victory over Broad Ripple, and an after-game dance highlighted Homecoming evening, making October 21 stand out in the minds of all Manualites.

Forming the traditional Block M, the Redskin Marching Band officially launched the gala half-time ceremonies with a "chorus line" of 18 twirlers performing. James McDaniel and Steve Barteu, freshman football players, unrolled the royal carpet for the candidates to travel to midfield. Climaxing the evening, Principal Wayne Kincaid announced King Manual XIV and his Queen — Kim Richards and Karen Clark. Mr. Wendell Mertz, Choir Director, sang "Queen of Manual High" and "Girl of My Dreams" accompanied by the Girls' Glee Club.

The royalty and their court returned to convertibles, decked with red and white streamers, and encircled the field once more for all to see.

Celebrating the reign of the newly-crowned royalty, the Homecoming Dance concluded the evening.

Adding to an emotion-filled evening, the Glee Club sings "Queen of Manual High" as the royalty walk to the regal car.

Crowning King Manual XIV and his queen are last year's royalty, Sandi Smith and Bob Percifield, climaxing half-time ceremonies.

Leading the royal procession, Homecoming Queen Karen Clark and King Kim Richards triumphantly travel the victory route.

Education Week Finds Pupils 'Behind Desk'

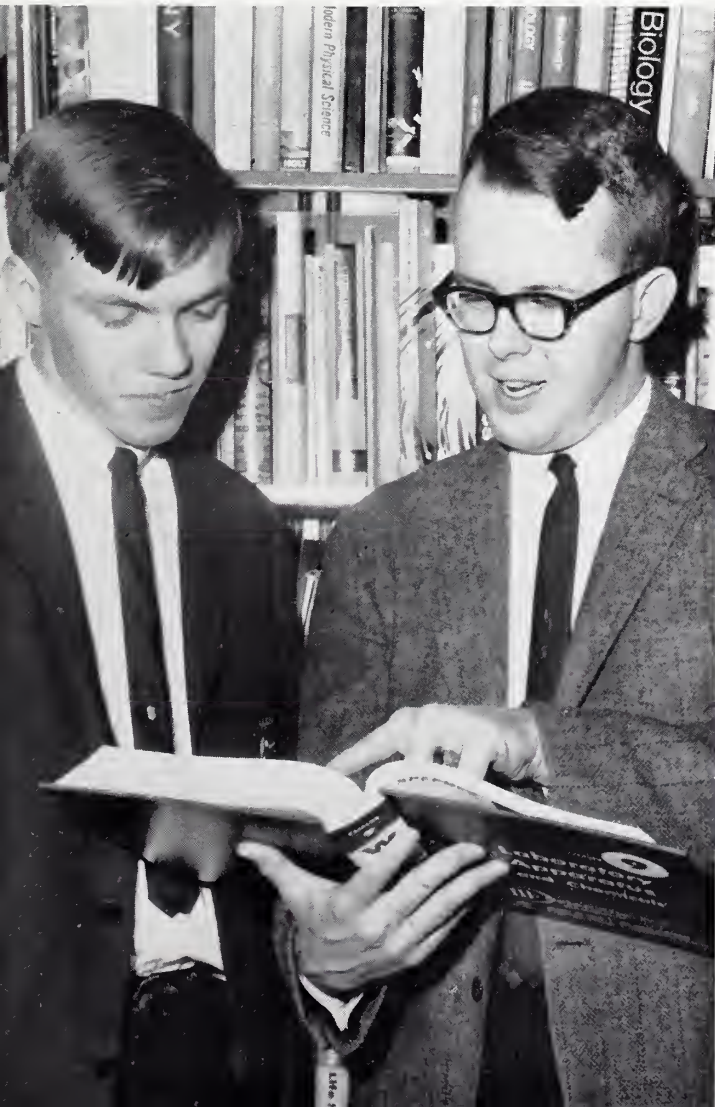

"Education Adds Up" — and during American Education Week many pupils had a first-hand chance to check out the pluses and minuses of teaching. The occasion was Turnabout Day, November 10, a day set aside for administrators and faculty to "retire" and for students to fill their positions behind the desk.

Knowledge and experience of the administrator's responsibilities and the instructor's view of the class are the aims of Turnabout Day. Top seniors were chosen to fill the high administrative offices. Principal David Potter toured the building with Mr. Wayne Kincaid and visited classes, viewing the teaching of other turnabouts. Vice-principal Vangie Baker got an inside look at the complicated matter of programing classes while Jeanine Kent, also a vice-principal, learned the problems of building and grounds administration.

Aside from the formal aspect of the day, teacher counterparts were privileged to lunch in the teachers' Cafeteria or dine out as guests of their respective bosses. Everyone participating in the day's activities was invited to an informal afternoon tea sponsored by the Home Economics Department.

"Principal" for a day, David Potter, who assumed the duties of Mr. Wayne Kincaid, is being informed of his tasks. Jeanine Kent and Vangie Baker who were "vice-principals" look on.

Mr. Edward Wall, head of the Science Department, briefs his understudy, Senior Bill Baron, who is a science assistant, preparing him to take over his classes on turnabout day.

'Carousel' Goes 'Round for Music Makers

Seated on the carousel, Melanie Schubert and Paulette Brehob smile to their beaux beside them, Cliff Sutt and Charles Perry.

For the cast and hopefully the audience too, the November 18 and 19 production of "Carousel" provided moments of laughter and tears in the Rogers and Hammerstein's tradition of musical hits. Members of the Music Department started in early October tuning their instruments and voices to try-out for positions on stage or in the pit orchestra.

When rehearsals got into full swing, Paulette Brehob and Charles Perry found themselves singing "If I Loved You" to each other in the leading roles as Julie and Billy. Mike Allee portrayed the villain as "wharf-rat" Jigger Craigin and the comic touch was added by Mr. and Mrs. Snow, Cliff Sutt and Melanie Schubert. Supported by a cast of "seafaring scalwags" and "shy ladies," the performers created moods of both gaiety and sadness from the rollicking "This Was A Real Nice Clambake" to the inspiring "You'll Never Walk Alone."

Under the direction of Jerry Hurst, stage manager, the stage crew constructed a four-horse carousel that rotated on stage during a pantomime set to music. Art pupils designed posters for advertising while make-up crews readied the grease paint.

Whether musicians with scores, performers with scripts, or publicity workers with tickets, the combination of these varied skills and talents made "Carousel" go 'round for another musical success.

"Give it to 'um good Carrie" shouts the girls' chorus to Senior Melanie Schubert as she chases the mischievous boys away from the picnic baskets and hurries them off to the clambake.

Trouble is in the air as Billy Bigelow looks defiantly at two policemen after being caught in an attempted ship robbery by the Captain of the Nancy B. Confused and overcome by guilt, Billy later turns to suicide as his only escape.

Sailors from the nearby wharfs take time out to celebrate the upcoming clambake with a rollicking hornpipe dance. Here, Steve Land and Steve McGail perform their specialty.

Portraying the comic roles of Carrie Pipperidge and Enoch Snow were Melanie Schubert and Cliff Sutt. Once, however, Enoch settled down for a little serious talk about courtin'.

Opportunity Day Previews Careers for Us

Mr. Lynn Youngblood and Indiana Central College students Larry Axel, Nancy Norcross, Sarah Hiatt, and Greg Michael present a panel for juniors on the problems of college admissions.

Serving guest speakers for Opportunity Day is Mrs. Sarah Bogard, who arranged the "get-acquainted" coffee hour, along with her student teacher, Miss Rita Meyers, and members of her class.

Mr. Lewis W. Gilfoy, Director of Secondary Education for the Indianapolis schools, receives his name tag from Honorary Cadet Kaye Doty as he begins his duties for Opportunity Day.

On Opportunity Day, March 8, students looking to the future talked with visitors representing phases of business, industry, and training programs.

Getting acquainted at a "coffee hour," visitors assembled in the library. Mr. Jack Brown, Director of Counseling, briefed guests for their sessions in the succeeding program. Honorary Cadets greeted the guests upon arrival and distributed name tags. Selected seniors, serving as hosts and hostesses, escorted speakers to their individual sessions.

College bound juniors and seniors attended separate panels composed of representatives from Butler University and Indiana Central College.

The Juniors' session discussed preparation for college admission and general admissions information. Seniors' topics included budgeting time and money, developing good study habits, and facing decisions on fraternities and sororities.

Areas for freshmen, sophomores, and non-college bound upper-classmen ranged from clerical work to Beauty Culture and Auto Mechanics.

Many of the guest speakers stayed after the sessions to answer questions for students, and several took advantage of the school's invitation to lunch in the Manual teachers' Cafeteria.

Parents and Teachers 'Pow Wow' for Funds

Enthusiastic parents and teachers join forces in P-TA and Dads Club earning money to provide such things as our school bus, band uniforms, and scholarships to institutes and work shops. They also give a grant to a senior to use for college.

The biggest project completed by the Dads Club this year was the new concession stand at the football field. It was built during the summer with much help from materials donors, student workmen, and even Mothers who got into the act.

The P-TA gets the football season off with a bang each year sponsoring a family supper in the Cafeteria. The annual Pow Wow in April is P-TA's big money-maker and fun-maker. Whole families come to make an evening of it. This begins with supper in the Cafeteria, followed by a show in the Auditorium. The gayly decorated gym is filled with parent- and teacher-manned booths. Manual's school clubs also sponsor novelty projects. Bringing the gala evening to a close is the P-TA sponsored dance for the Manualites, back in the Cafeteria.

At the new Dads Club and P-TA concession stand, Mr. John Mills, Mrs. Virgil Penniston, Mrs. Clint Switzer, and Mrs. John Garrity, (top) and Mr. Clint Switzer and Mrs. Bruce Richards, (bottom) serve hungry Redskins during a football halftime.

"Look out below" as Bob Smithers is dunked in the "Roines Rinse" by Sally Sublett. The annual "Pow Wow," the big money-making project of the year for the P-TA, invites all Manual organizations to join the fun.

Voted King Ivan and Queen Ann to reign over the Ivian dance, the "Pic Parade," were Seniors Roger MacDonald and Alice Smith.

From Hops to Formals We Dance Year Round

From rollicking romps to gala proms, Manualites enjoyed a variety of social occasions. Beginning the year, Roines sponsored its first romp featuring real "Go-Go" guys who were the fall pledges for the senior boys' honorary. Later, on Friday, January 13, the predicted end of the world came when Roines "smashed the world" at its second romp. Other informal hops included the "Pic Parade," at which underclass pictures are put on sale by the Ivian, and the Student Affairs Board's after-game dances during basketball season.

A January snowfall enhanced the evening for the Music Department's "Snow Whirl," the first formal dance of the year. In March, the annual ROTC Military Ball honored those Manual graduates who are now serving in Viet Nam. "Bunny Hop" was the theme of the pre-Easter semi-formal sponsored by Masoma, senior girls' honorary. The highlight of junior activities was the Prom, "Tulip Time," at the Indiana University Med-Center. The Senior Prom, at the Indiana Roof Ballroom, annually climaxes high school years for new graduates.

Revue Acts Fuse for Entertaining Evenings

From the moment selected Acts are named, the whirl-wind of excitement never ends. For the hundreds of students involved in the 1967 Redskin Revue, the long rehearsals and sleepless nights were well-worthwhile when the preparations materialized for the two-night performance on March 10 and 11.

The first act, "A Thousand Times No," by Shelly Johnson and Shirleen Harlow, was written like a melodrama. Taking place in a small Mexican village, a young girl was troubled by her father's wish that she marry the rich villian and give up her true love. Winning the "Best Act" trophy was "Sand, Sand, Everywhere" by Mike Allee and Ray Tacoma. Set in the Arabian desert, the last well before Cairo is the scene of a dual between the sultan and two visiting archeologists who stop to refresh themselves at Omar's bubbling water-hole.

The next act traveled back to the Bronze Age where a group of traders pooled their efforts to get rid of the "evil master" and his two monsters. The act, "Gentlemen Prefer Bronze," was written by Don Switzer and Wendell Wolka. Fourth in line, "Alpine Action," by Pam Medcalf and Bob Smithers, was concerned with a birthday party suddenly interrupted when the men were called to war. One of them accidentally fell off a rocky mountain pathway but was saved by the "sweet bird of paradise."

Co-ordinating the 1967 show were Co-chairmen Susan Williams and Steve Nordholt. For months prior to the production, they worked with the Redskin Revue Committee planning aspects of the show.

Mr. Edward Wall explains the new auditorium sound system to Redskin Revue Co-chairmen Steve Nordholt and Susan Williams.

"Sand, Sand, everywhere," featuring harem girls and desert tribesmen, won the prized "Best Act" trophy of the '67 Redskin Revue. Act writers were Seniors Mike Allee and Ray Tacoma.

Profile of

Academics

From Manual's broad curriculum we select four years of courses that fit together to earn a diploma. Whether the precious "sheepskin" prepares the recipient for college, business, or industry, our daily classes help each of us to grow up as we mold our personalities and fit our profiles into that of a mature Redskin.

Gaining experience in public speaking, Junior Sharon Napier utilizes visual aids to strengthen her report in English.

Increasing speed and comprehension through the use of shadowscopes, Manual freshmen improve their reading skills.

Diversified Courses Enliven Our English

English, the largest department at Manual both in pupils and teachers, strives to enliven the study of our native tongue for better communication.

Basic English courses develop good grammar, clear writing, and natural oral expression.

A Humanities class was introduced to the Manual curriculum this year. The course is a study of the heritage of man in western civilization, emphasizing literary works of all ages. The literature study is supplemented by delving into both the art and music of the periods.

"Histlish," a combination of English and United States History, coordinates these two courses to give students more understanding of American life.

Speech class relieves a pupil's anxieties of reciting orally by teaching the art of public speaking.

Using Latin and Greek derivatives, Etymology builds a more proficient vocabulary and teaches students how to analyze the meanings of words.

Developmental Reading, required for all Freshmen, aims to double the reading speed of pupils as well as increase comprehension ability. Shadowscopes, Purdue Reading Films, and timed essays are the three media used for this development.

"Manual Manuscripts," published each spring, includes the best writings from all English classes.

Mr. Thomas Taylor, assisted by Sally Pullen, illustrates Greek, Roman, and Renaissance art for Humanities class using plaster casts of well-known statues borrowed from the Manual Art Department.

Pupils Study Speech, Culture of Foreign Lands

Manual's Language Department offers four years of Spanish, French, and Latin. Pupils are given a basic background as they become acquainted with the grammar and literature of the language. Use of the Language Lab allows the student to hear his language spoken by a native, thus aiding greatly his proper pronunciation and inflection.

Each year any foreign language student, having acquired the junior level in his language, has the opportunity to take an exam for the Indiana University Honors Program, which means foreign study. The winning Spanish students go to Mexico for the summer; the winning Latin students study in Italy and the winning French students live in France. This year eleven of Manual's language scholars took the preliminary qualifying exams.

Miss Maria Muruais of Puenteneuvo, Lugo, Spain, from the National Educational Exchange Program, visited Manual this year for three weeks. Advanced French students dined in a French restaurant for a "taste of France" and found it "tres bonne."

Mr. David Phillips, French teacher, instructs Juniors Debbie Wooden and Carol Hill for IU Honors Program competition.

Mr. Albert Steiner discusses the review techniques with a Latin I class in preparation for final exams.

Assisted by Rebecca Rogers, Wayne Henke, and John Rainbolt, Miss Ann Manning explains the tradition of the Spanish pinata.

Science and Mathematics

Testing the efficiency of a pulley system in the Laws of Work experiment they have set up are Physics pupils Ron Davis, Ruth Ellen Oakes, Guy Richardson, and John Ruark.

Don Switzer and Sue Fouts, during the study of Chemistry Gas Laws, conduct a demonstration for their class concerning the effects of temperature and pressure on a volume of gas.

Mr. Ray Schultz assists Keith Martin, Pam Courtney, and Richard Hesitant during a laboratory session, as they record the changes in the normal heartbeat of a frog caused by differences in temperature. The exposed heart is electrically connected to a kymograph apparatus, making the changes visually apparent.

Combine to Explore Challenging Realms

With pencils, paper, and determination in hand, Manual pupils in the Mathematics and Science Departments delve into the world of figures, chemicals, and universal laws. Beginning courses, such as Algebra and Geometry, prepare students for later studies. Here, they are introduced to basic rules for factoring, solving equations and square root problems, and are familiarized with theorems and geometric figures. Math majors continue their studies in Solid Geometry, Trigonometry, and Calculus. These courses expand the principles learned earlier to increase the use of math functions.

Biologists tackle the living world from the primitive one-celled micro-organism to the complex structure of man. The dissection of worms, fish, frogs, and fetal pigs shows pupils the development of higher forms of animal life. In Chemistry, the composition of matter is explored through many experiments concerning acids and bases, chemical reactions and atomic structures. Physics pupils learn by examining the nature of energy forms in motion, heat, electricity, and light. Two general courses, Earth Science and Physical Science, combine the basic principles of all three areas of study.

Mrs. Carolyn Sharp, Geometry instructor, introduces a new and complicated theorem to her pupils. This class, just as others in the Math Department, stresses logic and reasoning.

These three Algebra pupils compete against each other in a problem race. Much time is spent calculating in this manner to help the student increase skills and accuracy in math.

Senior Joan Sterrett takes her turn at the board explaining a Trigonometry problem to her classmates. As a college prep course, it broadens the knowledge of useful math functions.

Social Studies Interpret Our American Heritage

Anthropological World History students, taught by Mr. John Krueger, study evidences of prehistoric civilizations.

Juniors Tina Pickard and Wanda Spilman stop to admire a collection of arrowheads in the Indiana Historical Museum located in the State House. During the 1967 session of the Indiana General Assembly, a group of Social Studies students visited to view the workings of local government.

Manualites ready themselves for future responsibilities as citizens through courses in the Social Studies Department. An emphasis on history aids pupils in understanding the foundations of politics today and the circumstances under which governments are controlled. Through Citizenship and United States History, students become conversant with the principles of our American democracy.

Government, a senior course, delves into the functions of governmental branches, studies the Constitution, learns election procedures and reviews the workings of local politics. For this unit, a group of pupils visited the Indiana State General Assembly to view legislation in the making. Economics bases its study on the factors of a free economy and how men spend money for needed goods and services.

A new game was introduced in International Relations classes called Inter-Nation Simulation. In the lifelike game, pupils assume the roles of heads of governments and officials from various countries. They plan economic, military, and political moves in order to attain international power. Psychology, another elective course, helps pupils understand themselves and others by studying the factors of environment and heredity which shape their lives.

Outside the classroom, outstanding Social Studies pupils represented the school at Girls' and Boys' States and a High School Leadership Conference.

Business 'Ed' Fits Us For Future Careers

A business education at Manual provides an all around knowledge of several business fields. Besides offering general instruction in Shorthand, Bookkeeping, Filing, and related skills, the Department also offers further study in Business Law, Economic Geography, Salesmanship, Machine Calculation, and Data Processing. Stenography, Bookkeeping, Management, and Data Processing are the four major areas which prepare students for business careers.

The office Training Class simulates an office situation by allowing pupils to perform business functions in an office setup. Typing and Secretarial Practice Classes develop the ability of the typist to type what he hears by using transcribing machines. An integral part in the instruction is the Typing Skill Builder. This machine develops accuracy by controlling typing speed.

At each six-week grading period qualified students are awarded Master, Intermediate, and Primary certificates for achievement in Shorthand and Typing. Students typing 60 words a minute with a minimum of errors receive gold pins. Transcribing material in limited time with 95 percent accuracy is the requirement for Shorthand awards.

Knowing that experience is the best teacher, Linda Manning and Donna Fitzgibbons practice the techniques of filing.

Sandy Christy checks instructions in her Lab manual before typing a business letter, an area studied in Typing I.

Increasing tabulating speed is the goal of Machine Calculation students as they practice transcribing numbers.

'Home Ec' Provides Homemaking Skills

For professional or future homemaking use, Manual girls acquire knowledge in clothing, foods, homemaking, family living and home management, and home nursing from the Home Economics Department.

Clothing 1-4 includes a study of fabrics and fashion designs. The girls learn many sewing techniques which vary from basic construction of blouses and skirts to professional tailoring. Sewing experts from McCall and Simplicity pattern companies were guests of the clothing classes. They discussed colors, lines, and designs in fashions.

In Foods 1-4 girls are taught to preserve foods and prepare breakfasts, luncheons, dinners, and gourmet foods. One class served a Hawaiian Luau and entertained Mrs. Mary Jay, a former Manual Home Economics teacher who, in turn, told the class about some of the fine foods she had encountered in England where she has lived the past year.

Manual boys also fit into Home Ec as Boys' Foods lets them in on "what happens in the kitchen," and some become quite proficient.

Culminating the events of the year is the annual June style show, a part of the "Projects Fair." Students from each grade level model their best creations from their year of hard work.

Peggy Daughtery, Clothing 4, finds she has "sewed a fine seam" as she checks stitching on the garment she is making.

Eddie Arnold readies a sheet of Christmas cookies for the oven, as Darryll Morton mixes another batch of dough.

Terri Oliver and Connie Mercer, Senior Home-Nursing students, tryout some of the finer points of a class unit involving preparation of a bed for the sick room. They also receive practice in making a bed with a patient in it, giving a bed-bath, and feeding a bed-fast person.

Shop 'Schools' for Practical, Industrial Jobs

Preparing Manualites for immediate jobs upon graduation and providing the basic education for further specialization in engineering, architecture, and other fields is the Industrial Arts Department.

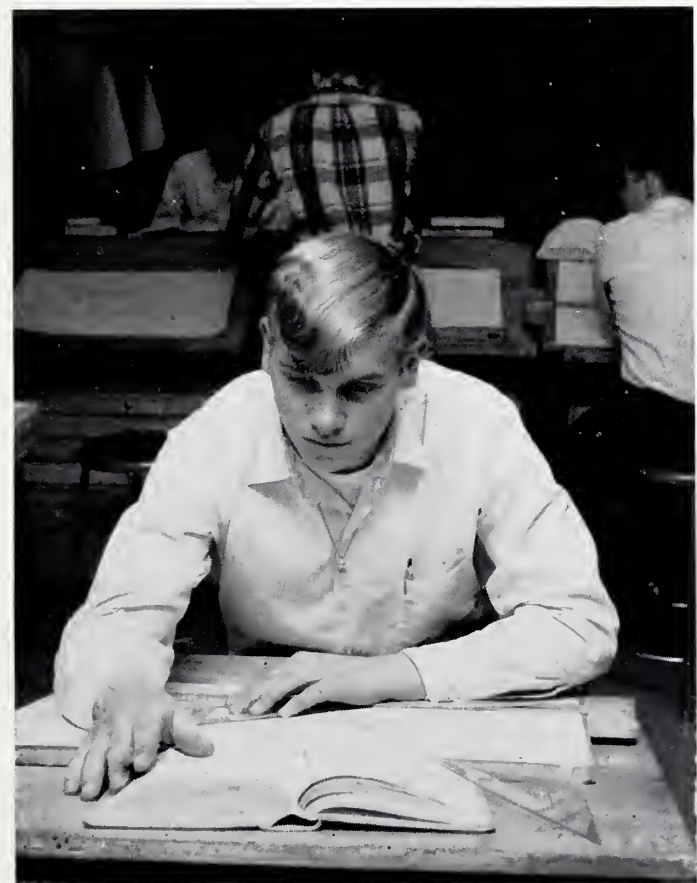

Four types of shops — wood, metal, electric, and machine — provide the background necessary for further specialization, giving the students work with individual projects and more complicated problems.

Auto Shop pupils study the workings of transmissions, the repair of automotive electrical systems and accessories, and the functions of the automotive engine. Students also do actual work on their own cars and those of teachers.

Pupils in Print Shop study the fundamentals of the correct type faces for various purposes. They set copy and print on job presses, serving the school by printing forms, tickets, and posters. They also duplicate by the silk-screen process.

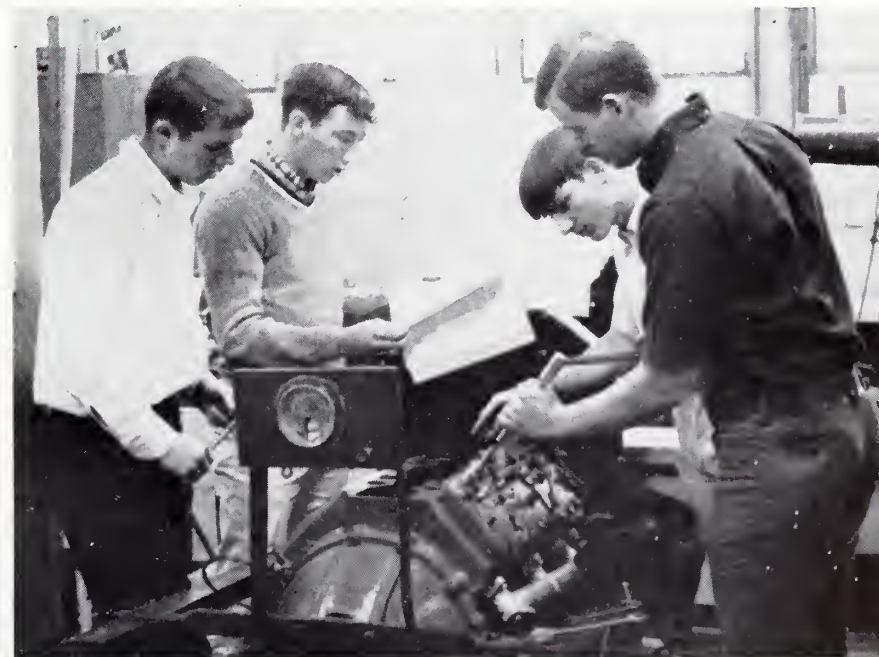

Mechanical Drawing, one-half credit, develops skills and techniques needed for entrance into the drafting field. Architectural drawing covers landscaping and the technology in building procedures.

Leo Brown verifies information in his textbook as he constructs a three-view mechanical drawing in his advanced class.

Mr. Cecil Sanders, Wood Shop instructor, checks measurements Donnie Garner and Neil Kent have made for a class problem.

Bill Campbell, Mike Meyer, John Richter, and Jim Bevers silk screen "arm bands" for the Class of '67's Senior Day.

Overhauling an engine is the task of Mike Nichols, Steve Nuckles, Gary Patterson, and Jerry Durham in Auto Shop.

Music Department Blends in Harmony

Mr. Wendell Mertz tests Robert Patrick, Cheryl Tanasovitch, Kerry Smith, and Linda Medcalf in Choir Prep, a course preparing students for advanced work in vocal organizations.

In all Music Department classes, participants find the opportunity to develop an appreciation and understanding of basic music theories. Beginning students in girls' and boys' chorus classes learn the values of harmony and rhythm. Instrumentalists in string, percussion, and wind classes also have the chance to expand their musical knowledge and gain performer status for school productions.

Those who become proficient in their respective areas may audition for one of the four performing groups: the Redskin Marching and Concert Bands, Orchestra, Concert Choir, or Girls' Glee Club. Throughout the year, these groups entertain for school assemblies and community social functions.

All students may enroll in an elective course in music theory. Here they study the styles of classical and modern composers and even try their own hands at composing. Time is also spent in reading, listening, and learning varied rhythms, chords, tone qualities, and musical expressions.

The entire department combines in the fall for a full-scale musical production. Musical contests cite the accomplishments of members of the department throughout the year as soloists and ensembles are awarded first-division ratings.

The band, rehearsing ninth and tenth periods, exemplifies the slogan "practice makes perfect." Each section works individually and then as a group to perfect the total performance. All performing groups realize a satisfaction in the results produced by their many hours of practice.

Manual Artists Show Profiles of Talent

With the wide variety of Art classes, pupils find the chance to use many kinds of materials and skills in a creative manner. Basic fundamentals taught in the first two years of art emphasize color and design. From here, pupils may continue in the informal atmosphere of the Commercial Art class which prepares future artists for professional jobs. These students also perform school services by designing posters, programs, and stage decorations.

In Craft classes, pupils are trained to use their hands and imaginations to produce items of both practical use and luxury. Work is done in weaving, ceramics and mosaics, enameling, and leather. Those in jewelry, use soft metals to fashion rings, bracelets, and necklaces, often made as gifts.

Two advanced art classes decided early in the year to work on oil paintings in order to enter the scholarship competition for John Herron Art School. Pupils donated the money for needed material, and twenty-five of them created two paintings each. These, along with a portfolio of the student's other works, were submitted for judging.

Again this year many young artists devoted extra time to work on sketches, water-color paintings, and oils for showing at the Scholastic Art Contest.

Designing a pattern on this clay model for a piece of pottery is Junior Pat Dillman in her advanced Craft Class. Ashtrays, jars, and dishware are decorated in the same manner.

Mr. Don Johnson, art instructor, adds a touch of color to a "collage" being created by Karen Thrahser as Bill Esselborn, Bob Gratz and John Cooper look on for new ideas.

Senior Darlene Fletcher finishes up her still-life oil painting that will be entered with her portfolio of other works in the John Herron Art School scholarship competition.

ROTC Parades, Serves Through Active Year

Manual's ROTC Battalion's busy year began with all cadets and honorary cadets' — our red and white uniformed sponsors — marching in the Veterans Day Parade, downtown. Members of the Drill Team made quite a "splash" in their red berets and neckerchiefs with their snappy maneuvers.

Three Manual cadets — Maj. Jonnie Vibbert, Maj. Charles Saunders, and 1st Lt. Larry Gardner — were members of the 15-man city All-Star Rifle Team.

The Cadets served as doormen for many of Manual's social functions such as P-TA Meetings, Open House, and Redskin Revue and as honor guards at home ball games. Every Friday one of the Honorary Cadets, girls chosen by vote of the ROTC, is on duty to supervise cadet inspection. The sponsors are also hostesses on Opportunity Day, Mothers' Recognition Day, and other special occasions.

ROTC members broaden their interests by participation in the Drill Team, Rifle Team, and ROTC History Club. All take part in Federal Inspection.

The Military Ball, in March, was the feature event of the year. The 1967 queen was Janie Murphy.

Cadet Major Johnnie Vibbert practices the form that gained him a position on the All-City Rifle Team. Vibbert was the only cadet to compete in all the matches during the school year.

Honorary Cadet Captain Gloria Alstott stands at attention while Cadet Major Charles Saunders readies the ROTC unit for their weekly Friday inspection made by the eight senior girl cadets.

Exercise in Gym Breaks Study Routine

Manualites get a change of pace from their scholastic studies in gym classes. This one-half credit subject is required of all pupils their first year. Advanced courses are offered to exercise-minded sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Skills in tumbling and calisthenics help students gain poise and balance. A wide variety of apparatus makes the gym well equipped for all activities.

Physical Education prepares students to take part in intermural sports, and many, both boys and girls, become interested in the intramural programs.

Pupils have the chance to get "behind the wheel" in Driver Education. Each enrollee must have a Driver Education permit. Class is devoted to studying, not only the rules of the road, but safety laws and proper attitudes. In the car, students learn the techniques and skills of its operation. They experience both country and city driving under varied road conditions and master the parking problem. First aid and car maintenance are also studied. Completion of the course readies a pupil to pass a test for his "regular" license.

Wayne Mascher, an eighth semester gym student, works to improve his style in advanced techniques on the parallel bars.

Modern dance, recently introduced into the Advanced Girls' Gym classes, emphasizes graceful form, body control, and balance. In addition to the regular exercises and basic skills, the advanced curriculum offers a variety of games and dances which supplement the daily activities.

Profile of # Activities

In activities we find the chance to supplement our studies in organizations such as a publications staff, the Math Club, the orchestra, or Future Printers of America. We develop respect and responsibility in service clubs like Masoma and Roines, Lettermen's, or Tri-Hi-Y and add these traits to our personalities.

Masoma, Roines Help All Manualites

Wearing ties that mark them as Roines pledges are Jim Murley, Dave Ebbeler, Doug Hattabaugh, Ron Davis, and Al Plahitko. President Ray Tacoma briefs them on their pledge duties.

Carrying on their traditional roles as senior girls' and boys' service organizations, members of Masoma and Roines tutored students, sponsored events, and served Manual throughout the year.

Freshman girls found an opportunity to become better acquainted at the September "Masoma Mixer." Profits from a winter Rummage Sale, a first for this group, clothed an underprivileged child at Christmas. The Easter rabbit helped the girls with their Spring semiformal, the "Bunny Hop."

The Roines started the school social season in the fall, transforming the Cafeteria into a discotheque, with pledges performing as "Go-Go Guys." For the "superstitious," they sponsored their "End of the World" Romp on Friday, January 13. Keeping with the Christmas spirit, the Roines hung their "Peace on Earth" wreath over Manual's Madison Avenue entrance. They also attended their annual Alumni Reunion at the Columbia Club. Again this year the "Roines Raiders" bowed to the Faculty "Fogies" at the Roines Faculty basketball game.

Both honor groups combined their efforts in contributing to the success of the Alumni Banquet and the P-TA Pow Wow with their "Squirt-the-Flirt" and "Roines Dunk" booths. Masoma and Roines members concluded their activities with picnics.

Student Board Influences School Affairs

The Student Affairs Board, composed of delegates from each grade level, meets bi-monthly for one period throughout the school year. Acting as a liaison between students and faculty, everyone has benefited from its various school projects.

In the fall, as a result of last year's Board campaign, directional signs were printed on the main staircase to relieve student traffic "jams."

Culminating Homecoming activities, the Student Affairs Board hosted Manualites and Alums at its first Homecoming Dance as well as sponsoring several other after-game dances throughout the year.

As a result of the SAB's participation in the monthly Inter-City Council meetings, Senior Board Member Danny Cook represented Manual at Wood for the Sportsmanship Exchange program.

Selected juniors and seniors, proudly wearing a cluster of gold, red, white, and royal purple ribbons, became pledges of the National Honor Society during a ribbon ceremony in the Auditorium April 5. A short poem, containing a summary of each new person's achievements, was read as Mr. Edward Wall, faculty sponsor, introduced the new pledges.

These 48 pledges became members of the honorary at a formal induction ceremony on April 30. President David Potter, assisted by Vice-president Mike Allee, Treasurer Janice Bramlett, and Secretary Jeanine Kent, explained the color symbols of the society. Gold represents scholarship; red, service; white, character; and royal purple, leadership. Each newly-elected member then lighted a section in the large gold torch as a symbol of his membership in the Honor Society. Afterwards, members received their jewelry. A formal reception in the Library honored the new initiates, their parents, and invited guests after the ceremony.

The Manual Chapter observes the national organization's standards to select candidates. Elected seniors must have a 6.25 grade average; juniors, a 6.75. Membership cannot exceed ten percent of the Senior Class and three percent of the Junior Class.

Cathy Hafer, Jerry Hurst, Mr. Ed Wall, sponsor, and Carol Magerlein test lightbulbs in the Honor Society torch.

Russell Brooker assists Janice Bramlett with her robe which she wears as a speaker during initiation ceremonies. National Honor Society members watching are Dave Potter, Karlis Rusa, Vangie Baker, Mike Allee, Jeanine Kent, Debbie Stroud, and Ruthann Surber.

Career Seekers Join F-Clubs for Previews

Promoting the fields of nursing, teaching, and business, "F" Clubs inform members of the opportunities in pursuing careers in these areas.

Early in spring the Future Nurses Club traveled to Crossroads Rehabilitation Center to learn more about physical and occupational therapy. Several speakers from various medical fields visited club meetings presided over by President Beth Hodges.

Future Teachers of America members constructed name tags for faculty and their turnabouts during National Education Week. On Opportunity Day many members attended sessions on elementary or secondary teaching. Miss Margaret Consodine sponsored the group and Carol Magerlein was president.

Going into its second year, the Future Business Leaders of America highlighted their year by hosting a program by the Bell Telephone Company on job application procedure. President Debbie Werz and Miss Nancy Chapman, sponsor, arranged for several business leaders to talk with the members.

Miss Patricia Griswold, Occupational Therapist, IU Cerebral Palsy Clinic, discusses physical therapy with FNC members.

Mr. Howard Herron, student teacher from IU, informs FTA members of the preparations involved for a career in teaching.

Under the sponsorship of FBLA, the Telephone Company presented a skit explaining the "do's" and "don't's" of applying for a job. Bell Telephone representatives, Mrs. Adra Wheeler and Miss Kathy Schlachter, discuss the performance with Debbie Werz, president; Marilyn Overton, Miss Nancy Chapman, faculty sponsor; and Ellen Gonder.

Acting or Broadcasting Manual's Our Stage

Extroverts in the student body who participate in National Thespian Society and Mask and Wig know the value of team work in perfecting a successful show.

In October, the first play presented by both groups was "Whole Darn Shooting Match," a comedy about the madness of the advertizing world. Later, Mask and Wig had an afternoon of plays which included "A Room for Mary" and "The Great Allowance Battle," and in February, Thespians staged "Lo and Behold."

The Thespians, dramatic honorary, was in charge of the holiday auditorium programs. At the bi-weekly meetings the group discussed the theatre and presented cuttings from plays which served to increase an understanding of the dramatic art. Mask and Wig members studied basic dramatics from staging to make-up which allowed underclassmen to accumulate points for membership in the honor club.

Judie Blonder practices applying make-up to Debbie Wooden as members of Mask and Wig, the all-purpose drama club, learn the importance of all aspects of the makings of a production.

An essential part of any production is the scenery and stage settings. And for all of Manual's productions a competent and well-trained Stage Crew designed and built the sets. From the musical, "Carousel," to the Senior Class play such things as a revolving merry-go-round and a seventeen foot mountain were created to make each show a success.

Acquainting pupils with techniques of radio broadcasting is the Radio Club, an affiliate of station WMHS, which presents half-hour morning programs for students and teachers before classes begin.

The some twenty members of the Radio Club co-ordinate music, news, and various entertainments, to learn the technical and performing aspects of radio broadcasting. Early in September, student announcers and engineers sign-up for the particular days for which they are responsible for the program. Each day's show features music and the local school news concerning club meetings and activities.

This year, a little originality was added to the morning broadcasts when humorous skits, written in parody to situations in history, were introduced by one group of club members.

"You idiots," screams Steve Pieper as he looks in astonishment at Don Darko and Bob Sterrett who are "undressed" for their afternoon dip in the "Whole Darn Shooting Match."

Brian Barry, Marcia McQueeney, Pam Sparks, and John Peters, members of the stage crew, study the lightboard to map out proper lighting for a National Thespian production.

In charge of this day's WMHS morning broadcast is Ron Davis, student sponsor of the radio club, Joan Sterrett, station manager, and Steve Hartsock and Gerald Sturgeon, engineers.

Marching Redskins Parade, Back Teams

"The most outstanding organization in the contest" was one of the many praising comments of judges observing the Redskin Band in the Indiana School Music Association Marching Contest. Defying superstition, the musical organization earned its thirteenth consecutive "first" on October 13, after spending endless hours perfecting their intricate routine. Another "first" for the Band was the twirling corps of 24 girls, dressed in silver-sequined outfits with matching gloves, black fur hats, and white boots. These girls were selected from the Twirling Club, sponsored by Band Director William D. Kleyla.

Under the baton of Drum Major David Ebbeler, the Band performed at football games and marched in the Veterans Day and Christmas parades. Highlighting the year, the marching unit participated in the "500 Festival" Parade and in the ceremonies preceeding the "big race." ROTC Federal Inspection and Commencement completed a successful year for the band.

The Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Martha Cross, combined with the Band to present a Spring concert. The all-girl organization also performed for various school and community programs. The All-City Glee Club Concert rounded out the year.

Choir and Orchestra Harmonize in Musical

Variety was the key word in performances of the Choir, directed by Mr. Wendell Mertz, and the Orchestra, under the baton of Mr. Thomas Dick. After the Music Department's presentation of "Carousel," Choir programs came at a hurried pace. Wearing new green stoles, a gift from the Class of '66, over their red robes, Christmas programs were sung in the community, and carolers sang in the downtown stores. Two programs were taped for WIBC Radio. Completing the year, the Choir participated in the All-City Choir Festival presented at Clowes Hall.

Aided by Concert Meister Marianne Hedges, the Orchestra performed at grade schools and for P-TA programs. The groups made their final appearances at the Choir-Orchestra Concert and Vespers.

Manualites Display Pennants FPA-Made

Cindy Turner, Donna Thompson, and Jim Green silk screen a Manual pennant. The banners were sold for fifty cents.

The outstanding project of Manual's Future Printers of America was making and selling felt pennants inscribed "Manual." Three types were designed: one, white lettering on a red background; another, hot-pink letters on a white background; and a third type — larger than the other two — bearing an Indian head and "Manual Redskins."

Profits made from the fifty-cent banners purchased an imprinting machine — especially for Pow-Wow usage — which stamps names on pens, pencils, and match books.

Club members traveled to Technical High School which boasts the biggest apprentice printing shop in the city. On another field trip, to the Star-News, members observed the printing of a newspaper.

For the Class of '67, Future Printers silk-screened the red-on-white emblemized armbands.

During the spring, the group met every afternoon to construct "Manual's 500," a Slot-car Track for use in their Pow Wow booth.

Jim Green served as president, assisted by Vice-presidents Troy Bailey and Tom Arkins, and Secretary Donna Thompson. Mr. Marvin Thrope, who heads the print shop, sponsors the organization.

Math, Science Minded Pursue Extra Study

Checking their individual computations for accuracy against those of Mr. Harold Baumer, sponsor, on the demonstration sliderule are Math Club Members Sue Roberts and Bill Hancock.

With interest as the only qualification for membership, the Math Club and Science Club give students a chance to supplement their academic studies with challenging, new problems not met in the classroom. Mr. Harold Baumer, sponsor, and the Math Club members looked into modular arithmetic and studied other base number systems. At weekly after-school meetings, members presented individual findings for group discussion on problems which they had investigated earlier. Officers for the year were Ron Davis, president; Sue Roberts, vice-president; and Steve Hartsock, secretary-treasurer.

The newly reorganized Science Club boasts a membership of 35. With the same purpose in mind as the Math Club, the young science enthusiasts pursue experiments of their own choosing. Meeting weekly, the club listened to Purdue University faculty members speak on various subjects. The most exciting project of the year was a spelunking excursion to Sullivan's Cave. Along with experienced caver, Mr. Don Hully, the club and Sponsor Ray Schultz spent the entire morning adventuring through crevices and passageways while studying the earth.

For this demonstration in physics, Mr. Ray Schultz is assisted by Gaylen Fox, Don Crafton, Mike Jones, and Martha Westerfield as the Science Club investigates the properties of sound waves.

Our School Paper Fills Role of Key 'Booster'

Editor-in-Chief Susan Williams checks Booster page proofs with Editors Keith Millay, Ruthann Surber, Bob Smithers, Dave Stace, and Phyllis Stroud before the final copy goes to press.

Some 2,300 Manualites eagerly awaited Fridays to "catch up on the news" from Manual's key "Booster." The weekly publication is the result of some forty Booster staffers working "en masse" to gather, report, write, and share the school news.

Each week Page Editors sought leads and posted assignments for the "new" reporters. From there the journalists went after interviews and learned the facts to meet a Friday-afternoon copy deadline.

Editor-in-Chief Susan Williams began the duties of her job early as she made plans for the Booster at Indiana University's Journalism Institute. Other staffers furthered their "journalistic enthusiasm" by attending the Indiana High School Press Association Convention at Franklin College and Ball State University's Journalism Day. Even the "Freshies" are a part of this mass production as they "learn the ropes" from staff members in Cub Club.

Every Manualite is a part of this award-winning paper — snappy photographers "focused-in" on Manual action; sports staffers followed the ups-and-downs of "variable" teams; columnists furthered the "grapevine" communication between students and faculty; and feature writers and editorialists added their "wit" to enhance Manual's "food for thought."

Steve Woodmansee and Keith Millay, two of the Publications' photographers, examine the new photo enlarger in the dark room where Manual's captured action is "developed." Keith furthered his skills at Indiana University's Journalism Institute in 1965 and will return again this summer.

Staff Condenses Story under 'Secret' Cover

Following the tradition of keeping the color and design of the Ivian cover the most guarded secret, yearbook staffers worked "undercover" to bring together the scholastic, athletic, and activities story of the year for all Manualites.

Kicking off the fall subscription campaign was Barker Bob Smithers who gave a preview of the year's happenings in a circus "sideshow" for a 3A-3B Aud.

Some 1,800 underclassmen who were "shot" by the portrait photographers in early fall came to the November "Pic Parade" dance to buy and exchange billfold-sized pictures with their friends.

It was not a secret however that much planning was going into the makings of the 1967 book. Preparations began last summer when Editor-in-Chief Linda Ellis and Assistant-editor Mary Otto studied at the Indiana University High School Journalism Institute learning techniques of designing layouts and writing and fitting copy and cutlines. Throughout the year, work went on as photographers captured on-the-spot action and reporters gathered facts for copy.

Culminating the year's hard work was the debut of the finished book at the John Henry Hop.

Last minute changes are discussed by the Ivian's Cover Designer Jerry Peters, Assistant-editor Mary Otto, and Editor-in-Chief Linda Ellis before the yearbook covers go to press.

The "double duty" sports staff which reported weekly for the Booster and wrote the entire year's account for the Ivian is Mike Allee, Ron Pieper, Dave Stace, editor, and Steve Pieper.

Surrounded by senior activity liners is Senior Editor Vangie Baker who typed and edited the copy for all members of the Class of '67 and also designed the liners for easier marking.

Clubs Add 'Icing' to Classroom Learning

The Craft Arts Club ambitiously began their long-planned project of designing a stained glass panel to hang against the glass block on the main stairway. "Crafters" supplemented their activities by experimenting with ceramics and enameling. At Christmas, club members made stuffed animals and worked with making jewelry. Officers include President Tina Pickard, Vice-president Debbie Eberg, Secretary Cara Denny, and Treasurer Lemuel Mitzs.

Citizen's League members traveled to Spring Mill State Park for the Indiana Junior Historical Society workshop to discuss possible future activities for the club. Junior Judy Lewis served as Senior Director of the South in the Historical Society. Fulfilling her responsibility as an officer, Judy attended the Indiana Historical Society Convention at McCormick's Creek State Park. Late in April, members participated in a Convention at Perry Central Junior High School.

The Spanish Club — after disbanding two years ago — drafted a new constitution and reorganized during Spring semester. At the organizational meeting, the "spanish-speaking" group was honored to have a native Spaniard, Senorita Maria Muruais, speak with them about the Spanish culture. Senorita Muruais, a Fullbright Scholar, spent three weeks at Manual learning about our educational systems in exchange for "first hand" information on Spain.

Senorita Maria Muruais speaks to Spanish Club members on the customs and life of her own Spanish village, La Coruna. Making plans for the Spring Mill State Park tour are Anna Carey, Judy Lewis, Martha Westerfield, Tim Mogle, and Marie Wicher.

Getting down to serious business on the mosaic for the main hallway are Craft Club members Debbie Eberg, Lemuel Mitzs, Mrs. Mildred Haskens, sponsor, and Cara Denny. Here, they cut the metal stripping to make the frame for the design.

Y-Teens Carolyn Clinard, Sonja Groce, Peggy Wilson, Linda Ackerman, and Barbara Comer plan a trip for several members to the mid-winter State Y-Teen conference at Terre Haute.

Manual's Red Cross Chapter participated in a county-wide drive to send "friendship kits" to Viet Nam. Rose Ann Richmond sews a cloth bag while Diane Shockley fills one with goods.

Tri-Hi-Y members were responsible for the many red-topped heads in the Manual section at the Southport Sectional as a result of their traditional project of selling derbies. Clara Schelske buys a hat from President Cheryl Lucas.

'Y' Clubs, Red Cross Plan Service Projects

Service to others has brought well-earned recognition to three school organizations — Tri-Hi-Y, Y-Teens, and the High School Red Cross Club.

As a result of Y-Teen participation in the YWCA Nut Sale, the group clothed a little girl for Easter. In February the club sponsored a tea for January freshman girls to acquaint them with Manual. Several members attended a mid-winter state conference in Terre Haute to exchange ideas with other Y-Teens. Officers are President Carolyn Clinard, Vice-presidents Barbara Comer and Linda Ackerman, Secretary Sonja Groce, and Treasurer Peggy Wilson. Mrs. Irma Farthing is sponsor.

The Red Cross Club highlighted its year by participating in a county-wide Friendship Kit drive for our armed forces in Viet Nam. Club members constructed and filled small cloth bags with health, recreational, and educational articles to send to servicemen to help them make friends with native children. Mrs. Barbara Anderson and Mrs. Jean Bacus are co-sponsors. Diane Shockley served as president.

Members of Tri-Hi-Y filled their traditional role of "derby sellers" for the Sectional Tourney. The red hats with white trim were sold in the Auditorium foyer afternoons. Mrs. Viola Hyneman, sponsor, and Cheryl Lucas, president, arranged activities.

'Chessmen' Enjoy Mental 'Cyrations' Weekly

Studying the chessboards carefully, members of the club attempt to outsmart opponents by placing kings in checkmate. More experienced boys will compete in the first State Chess Tourney.

Friday Rates as Block 'M' Sweater Day

As evidence of athletic accomplishments, some fifty boys sport the block "M" of Lettermen's Club each Friday, lending luck to Redskin teams.

Reorganized last year under Mr. Ray Schultz, himself an "M" man, the club continued to improve the standards and goals of athletes and to arouse spirit among fans and competitors. In the spring, the club sponsored a "Football Toss" for the Pow Wow.

Profile of # Athletics

With a spirit of fair play and good sportsmanship, Manual athletes and fans approach each sports season. Of course, we like to win — who doesn't — but we back our teams whether they are champs or inexperienced strugglers, because they are made up of loyal Redskins and we share their profile.

Explosive 'Skins Blast Foes for 7-2 Slate

Defensive Halfbacks Don Silas and Steve Stuard close in for the "kill" in the Broad Ripple game. The defense toughened to allow only 34 points to our 172 in the last four games.

Don Silas, the State's best fullback, led the '66 varsity to a 7-2 record for the second year in a row. The Fighting Redskins were beaten only by the '66 State Champs, Washington, and Arlington in an upset. A wide open offense resulted in three scores of 50+ and five of better than 40 points.

Ending his football career at Manual, Silas scored 76 points, which was second in City Statistics, won the Manual MVP award, made first team All-City and won fullback berths on both wire service All-State teams. Steve Price and Greg Hillan landed spots in the line of the second team All-City selections as a fitting reward for their fine work.

One of the most underrated players in the City this year was the Redskin's signal-caller, Steve Stuard. In a year of passing quarterbacks, Steve was overlooked because Manual had primarily a ground attack. However, he completed over half of the passes he threw including eight touchdown tosses. Stuard led the City in yards gained per carry with a ten-yard average and made the offense go with his perfect execution and brilliant faking. Since teams were keying on Silas, it was necessary for them to think he had the ball. So, deceptive fake handoffs by Stuard to Silas resulted in many large gains by other Redskins around the ends on sweeps.

Halfback Joe Norris cuts through the middle of the Broad Ripple secondary on the way to a Redskin touchdown. Norris led the Redskins to a 41-7 victory with three touchdown sprints.

Balancing a pass from Steve Stuard, split-end Bill Bryant prepares to beat a Washington Continental defender to extra yardage. Stuard threw eight scoring passes, two to Bryant.

Manual blasted open the season by bombing Kennedy Memorial, in the traditional opener, 54-0. Six Redskins scored in the win. Then, Washington outran the 'Skins in the second half of that contest to beat Manual, 33-13. Another close game followed with Howe, but Silas put on a record-breaking show by tallying 23 points as Manual triumphed, 42-32.

Three touchdowns to Cathedral's one on a slippery field gave victory number three to the Redskins. Then came one of the upsets of the year as Arlington, playing on its new field, shocked Manual with an inspired 24-13 second-half victory.

In a four game home stand which ended the season, the Redskin's offense and defense slipped into high gear to average 43 points on offense and gave up only 7.9 points a game on defense. The Varsity avenged last year's defeat by Tech, to take the Titans, 26-7. Then Senior Halfback Joe Norris began a seven-touchdown rampage. Three of Norris' long scoring runs helped rout Broad Ripple, 41-7. TD runs of 51 and 71 yards in the first half by Norris led the 'Skins to their 50-7 revenge victory over Southport. In the season final against Wood, the Varsity ended on a higher scoring note than the season began by bombing the Woodchucks, 55-13. Norris scored his final two six-pointers for Manual and made his last one the most exciting one of all. Taking a Wood kickoff on his own ten yard line, Joe, also Manual's top dashman, raced 90 yards to a TD, untouched by the surprised Wood defense.

Lenny Brown, Sophomores Form 1967 Nucleus

All-City, All-State MVP Don Silas shows how he reaped such honors as he bulls his way for a few more important yards held on to only by one defender. It usually took three to down him.

Joe Norris, Don Silas, and Charles Cummings are all in on the tackle of a Broad Ripple back. This was typical of the enthusiasm of the defense that allowed 34 points in four games.

The Redskins, who have won fourteen of eighteen games over the past two seasons, will have to depend heavily on juniors next season because spring graduation will take sixteen lettermen from this season's squad. The only holdover from this year's prolific-scoring backfield will be Halfback Lenny Brown, who scored 52 points for the 'Skins this year. Silas led the squad with 76, followed by Norris with 67. Quarterback Steve Stuard scored 39 points himself and threw eight touchdown passes.

A very tough Reserve team showed this season that they are ready to follow in the footsteps of the Varsity and keep Manual winning, as the B-team pushed to a 6-1-1 season mark by winning the last five contests of the schedule. A scoreless tie with Washington opened the season, but the Reserves won over Howe on Fullback Jim McDonald's lone touchdown. Following a 14-6 setback at the hands of Cathedral, the Redskins' Reserves started their five-game winning streak. The B-team slipped past Arlington, 14-12, and the following week a touchdown by Quarterback Steve Brown and an intercepted pass run back for a TD by Rocky Davis beat Tech, 14-6.

The 'Skins then stepped up their offense to blast their next opponents: Broad Ripple, 21-13; Southport, 26-6; and Wood, 49-0. The Reserves looked like the high-scoring Varsity in their rout of Wood which was led by Jim Shadbolt's three touchdowns. Shadbolt scored five touchdowns in the B-team's last three contests. Because of the quality of the Varsity squad this season, many underclassmen with talent labored on the Reserve squad, but some saw Varsity action in the latter part of the season. Jim McDonald at fullback, Steve Brown at quarterback and Jim Shadbolt will be led by Lenny Brown to form the nucleus of the backfield for next season.

The Freshman Football team got off to a slow start by losing their first game to Washington, 20-0. This was followed by three more losses. However, the first-year-men, not wanting to be shutout the whole season and suffer another blank year, rallied to win their final two games.

Lock, Brown Take Middle-Distance Honors

Eric Brown, Cross Country MVP, and Gary Lock, leading Manual record breaker, crouch in anticipation of the starting gun on the Garfield two-mile course. Both Lock and Brown were consistently high scorers for the Manual Varsity.

The Manual Varsity Cross Country team under Coach Howard Dardeen, earned an impressive season record, coming in second in their first meet of the season against North Central and Broad Ripple.

In the Southport Invitational, Washington came out on top winning the meet. The Manual Harriers placed tenth out of 15 schools.

Eric Brown, Varsity MVP, ran twelfth individually, placing the Cindermen fourth in the Howe Invitational. Gary Lock showed the Manual style, breaking records in both the Center Grove and the Cathedral meet. Lock shortened the Center Grove record 24 seconds, running the course in 10:32. Lock then set a new school record of 10:04, beating the old record of 10:07 held by Leon Carter.

Since Manual could only send two runners to the Shortridge Invitational, Lock and Brown were obviously chosen. Lock ran to a twenty-fifth place finish out of 175 and Brown placed thirty-sixth.

Next year's Varsity has much to look forward to from good returnees. The Reserve team, led by Charlie Wheeler and Steve Adams, defeated such schools as Cathedral, Tech, and Broad Ripple. Wheeler and Adams, who ran Reserve competition for the first time this year, were consistently on the top of the scoring list for the Redskins. The Reserve team finished with a 9-1 record.

Backing up Manual's Varsity teams this year were these six cheerleaders—Seniors Sally Martz, Karen Clark, and Melinda Beal, and Juniors Nancy Elrod (mascot), Jody Hafer, and Brenda Buescher. Sparking enthusiasm among the forty-girl member Pep Club, they also encouraged cheering participation from other fans. The girls bolstered team spirit during the gridiron season and "Hoosier hysteria" and also turned out for each home track meet to award ribbons.

'Multi-Letter' Girls Fight for All Teams

Reserve cheerleaders Judie Blonder, Sally Stellhorn, Regina Zook, Sandee Baker, Peggy Collier, Regina Maple, and Ruthie Smith get into formation for the Ivian camera. The girls' pep and enthusiasm proved worthwhile as Manual's "B" teams in both football and basketball finished their seasons with winning records. Assisting the Varsity girls on Mothers' Recognition Night, they pinned corsages on mothers of Basketball players.

Price Rates MVP for Second Straight Year

Coach Jack Foster's 1966-67 Matmen ended their season on a not too happy note, winning only two of their fourteen meets scheduled this year.

After losing the first two meets, the Redskins came back to win over the Wood Varsity, 43-15. The 'Skins registered eight pins, and John Conlin pinned the opponent in his class in 22 seconds. Gerald Sturgeon helped the Manual cause with a decision. The only other win for the Manual Varsity was a win over Decatur Central by a score of 29-18. John Morton was the first Manual Grappler on the score sheet. Morton registered a take down in the first 27 seconds of competition. Steve Ernest followed with five more points, and Steve Price pinned his man in the heavyweight division.

Manual came close to winning on two occasions. These close calls were to Broad Ripple and Chartrand. The score in the Broad Ripple game was 25-21, and the Chartrand score was 25-19.

The Manual Varsity has high hopes for next season with four returning varsity grapplers—Darrell Simpson, Dan Conlin, Gerald Sturgeon, and Bob Kleis. Strong hopes coming up from the Reserve ranks include Mike Anderson and Kenny Martz.

Although the Manual Varsity Wrestling team did not have a winning season, there were several grapplers who managed to get on the score sheet in almost every meet. These were Senior Matmen Steve Ernest and Steve Price, who have wrestled for all four years they have been at Manual.

In the fourteen meets they participated in, Steve Ernest scored a total of 41 points and Steve Price tipped the score sheet with 38. Ernest earned six pins against opponents and three decisions. He failed to get on the score sheet in only four meets. Price, who wrestled in the heavyweight division, fought to seven pins and one decision. He was both last year's and this year's Varsity MVP. Price failed to score for Manual only five times.

Both Price and Ernest entered the competition at Franklin Central in the Indiana High School Wrestling Tourney. Both fought to the finals in the Sectional but neither was able to pull off a mat victory. Ernest represented Manual in the 112-pound division, and Price, in the heavyweight division. In the finals, Ernest was finally decided by Henry Clouse of Franklin Central, who won the Sectional. Price was defeated by Tony Rosa of Southport in 4:37. With the help of these and other Manual grapplers, Manual didn't fare too badly. The Redskins managed to place fourth out of nine teams in the Sectional.

Entered in the Sectional along with Ernest and Price, but who could not make the finals, were Senior John Conlin, Sophomores Dan Conlin, Robert Kleis, and Gerald Sturgeon. These boys should be a feather in the cap of next year's Varsity.

Luckless Roundballers Close Out, 5-16

Senior Guard Steve Stuard, the 'Skins chief ball handler and floor general, appears to be in back-breaking contortions as he scores on a lay-up against Kennedy Memorial.

MVP Jerry Peters, a main cog in Redskin attack, takes his favorite side shot over his defender. Freshman Forward Gary Short in foreground and Lewis Meo look on.

Losing ten games in a row out of twenty in a basketball season makes it tough to end up with a winning slate. This happened to the 1966-67 Redskin Varsity after they had established a heartening three-game opening season winning streak. As a result, Mannual chalked up its second losing season in a row. Jerry Peters, the only really consistent performer, was voted MVP and Freshman Gary Short won the free throw accuracy award.

The Redskins opened up the season by winning their first three contests over Northwest, Cathedral, and Kennedy. Senior Forward Phil Warren, who was dropped from the squad at midseason, averaged 27 points a game in these three wins.

But then that horrible streak began. A five point setback by Terre Haute Gerstmeyer was followed by losses to such toughies as New Albany, Columbus, Wood, County Champ Ben Davis, Washington, Broad Ripple, and Tech. The 31-point loss to 1966 State Runnerup Tech was the last of the ten as the 'Skins finally regained their luck and shooting eye to defeat Kennedy again, 88-61.

The best game of the year was against City Champ and Indianapolis Regional Champ Shortridge. Mannual played the Blue Devils even, until the last quarter, and lost by only seven, 52-45.

Coach 'Woodie' Retires to Classroom

Coach Elwood "Woody" McBride, Varsity mentor for three years, has retired from coaching basketball after seventeen seasons. Woody has been a round-ball coach at Manual for eleven years, serving the first eight as Reserve Basketball Coach.

Mr. McBride began coaching at Reelsville in 1950. His first team went undefeated through twenty-three games. Later, after a few seasons, he went to Sullivan, where his best team there was 16-9.

The highlight of Woody's reserve coaching career came in 1961, here at Manual. Assisting Head Coach Dick Cummins, Woody helped mold the Redskins' State Runner-up team, led by the VanArsdales.

Taking over as Head Coach of the 'Skins in 1965, Woody came up with the State's No. 2 rated team. This team won its first twelve contests and finished 20-3. The 1965 State Champ Washington squeezed by this great squad in the final game of the Southport Sectional in one of the most memorable games in the history of that Sectional.

Tough Reserves, Frosh Hold Key to Next Year

Jerry Peters works to get an extra step on his man to break around him. In this contest against Warren Central, Manual scored an upset win led by Peters' twelve points.

The future of Manual basketball looks reasonably bright with the return of some outstanding underclassmen. Six tough players will be back for their second year of Varsity. Gary Short, who started this season as a freshman, will be back for another three years. Jim Eustace and Dave Daniels will be back for their final season, and Jeff McGuire, Joe Tuterow, and Steve Brown will be juniors.

To go along with these six will be the starting units from the Reserve Squad, (10-10), and the winning Freshman team, (9-7). Gary Neumeyer and Freshmen Roger Davis and Eric Frey are the three big hopes of these squads.

Six Starters Return for Hopeful Future

The 1966 Varsity Baseball Squad never could put together a long string of victories as they finished 7-11 overall, and 5-6 in the City Standings. But, the future looked bright with only three starters lost by graduation: Tom Shoopman, MVP first baseman; Bill Taylor, pitcher; and Noble Brown, left fielder. The Diamondmen had six starters back: Mike Bottoms, Larry Morwick, Bruce Hammond, Jerry Peters, Randy Harrison, and Steve Stuard.

The team started off on the right foot by beating Arlington, but then lost five of their next six. Then the Redskins slowed the skid by winning over Bloomington U. and Chatard. Next came four more losses out of five and another two wins to stop the trend. But the team then lost its punch and, with it, the final two games of the season.

Three boys paced the 'Skins slugging, headed by Bruce Hammond with a socking .354 average. Tom Shoopman hit .309 and Do-everything-pitcher Steve Stuard averaged a solid .294.

The highlight of the season was the pitching of Bill Taylor, who threw two one-hitters, and Steve Stuard, who tossed three shutouts; and the defensive gems put together by Shortstop Bottoms and Second-baseman Hammond helped to put the Redskins back into several close games.

The Reserve Diamondmen closed fast to finish with an 8-6 winning season, but the freshman team outshone all the other teams by finishing 6-4 overall and winning a share of the City Freshmen Baseball Championship. The Freshmen, like the Reserve team, closed fast to clinch a share of the title. Jeff McGuire headed the talent-laden Frosh by pitching three one-hit ball games. Six of the starting nine off the Frosh squad played Reserve games near the end of the season. The losing margins of the Freshmen games amounted to only seven runs.

'Mo' Gains Win '100' from 10-5 Cindermen

The 1966 Varsity Track Team turned out to be a typical Manual track team as they were led by MVP Randy Strait to a 10-5 mark and were one of the toughest teams in the area. Strait established himself as one of the best low and high hurdlers in Central Indiana as he scored more than one-thousand points for the 'Skins. He was clocked at 15.4 in the lows against Ben Davis. This wound up as the fastest meet time of the year for that event in the City and County. In the post-season meets, Randy placed fifth in the finals of the Regional low hurdles competition. Two other Cinderman aided greatly in the 'Skin's successful season. Joe Norris, who was the top dashman, piled up more than nine-hundred points; and Gilbert Elrod accumulated more than five-hundred points from the dashes and relays.

Randy Strait, Track MVP, shows the style which earned him over 1,000 points for the team in varsity competition.

Varsity Track Coach Francis "Mo" Moriarty reached a plateau in the '66 season from which he can rise to greater coaching accomplishments. "Mo" was given his one-hundredth victory by the team as the Redskins beat neighboring Wood. The team went on later to defeat Broad Ripple and make his record at Manual, 101-37. Not since 1957 has the track team had a losing season. From 1959 on, the team has won at least ten meets each year, with the best season of all being 1962 when the 'Skins went 12-1.

The Redskin thinlies started off the season by winning their annual meet against Bloomington U. and Warren Central. This marked the ninth year in a row that the team has won this opening season contest. Two more lopsided victories over Chartrand 79-36, and Secina, 88-30, were largely made possible by Randy Strait's winning six straight hurdle contests, two in each meet. Then came two losses to Lawrence Central and Beech Grove, when the team suddenly couldn't pick up vital points in the field events.

But Joe Norris put Manual back on the right track with a rare twenty-one point performance as the 'Skins downed Arlington. Norris and Strait continued their running domination as they both won two events and anchored the 880 and mile relays, respectively, when Manual rolled over Columbus, 78-48.

Next came a smashing 94-24 victory over the Cathedral Irish with the Redskins' taking all twelve firsts and eleven of the twelve seconds. Gary Lock, only a junior, was the highlight of Manual's win over Ben Davis as he set the two-mile event record with a 10:42.3 clocking. In the last five meets, the Varsity took only Wood and Broad Ripple, while losing to Southport, Howe, and City Champ Washington.

The Reserve team showed the promise of continuing Manual's winning ways in track as they posted a perfect 8-0 mark against tough area competition.

Spring Finds Golfers, Racketmen Competing

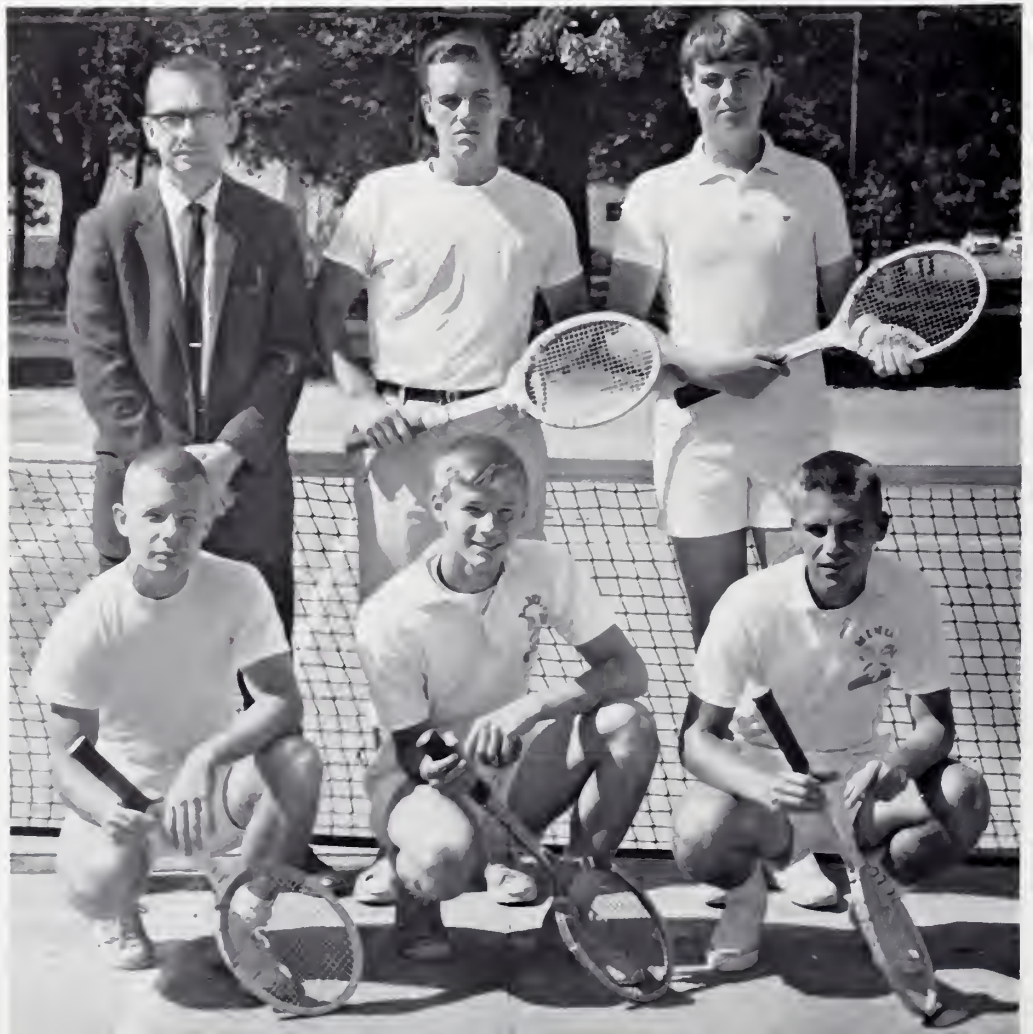

Manual's 1966 Tennis Squad finished the season with one of its best records. Coach Leland Walter's racketmen won fifteen meets and lost one.

Senior John Rogers, voted MVP by the other members of the team, won all fifteen of his meets. Don Crafton finished his season 12-1. Sophomore Darrell Allen was close with 12-2.

Returning for '67 were Senior Lee Colvin, Junior Darrell Allen, and Sophomore Don Crafton.

Manual's Divotmen, under the leadership of Coach Oral Bridgford, finished on the wrong side of the green, winning only two meets out of nine. The 'Skins defeated Wood, 12-0, and Tech in the golf sectional. In the City Tourney, the Redskins finished eleventh out of twelve teams. The Divotmen tallied a score of 173 for nine holes, putting them only in front of Crispus Attucks, who scored a total of 192. Steve Land was high scorer with a 41. Bob Percifield, who held the number one spot on the team, fired a 42. Percifield's season average was usually between 38 and 40 for nine holes of play.

The Tennis team, made up of John Hartman, Don Crafton, John Rogers, Bob VanNoy, and Darrell Allen, and coached by Mr. Leland Walter, finished with fourteen wins and one loss, that being to City rival Broad Ripple.

Intramurals Draw Many Redskins after School

Manual's intramural program offers something for everyone interested in athletics. Intramurals give both boys and girls an opportunity to burn off excess energy the year around in a fun way.

Boys' intramural basketball, sponsored by Mr. Dennis Jackson, met in the Gym on Wednesday evenings throughout February and March with team play-offs at the end of the season.

Girls' intramurals included a complete program of tennis, archery, basketball, volleyball, badminton, and softball. Miss Elena Raglin sponsored the groups that met on Mondays while Miss Theo Parr was in charge of the Friday afternoon sports.

Both teachers sponsored the volleyball tournament which drew the largest numbers of participants. The girls formulated the teams amongst themselves and then selected a captain and team name.

Mr. Ronald Green, sponsor of the only coed intramural sport, bowling, found many enthusiasts. Meeting at the Shelby Sport Bowl each Tuesday during the winter, the teams competed against each other for trophies. Individual awards were given to Bob Moore for highest average, and to Darryl Short, high boy, and Rhonda Barnett, high girl.

Girls in the Intramural program practice techniques of tennis at Garfield park during the early fall and late spring.

Appropriate for Redskin girls is archery in the intramural program. Under the supervision of Miss Theo Parr they shoot on the east practice field on fine autumn afternoons.

Profile of # Manualites

Redskins all — we crowd into the following pages, row upon row.

First come our capable faculty, then our proud seniors — the Class of '67, and then the underclassmen — juniors, sophomores, freshmen. Each year our profile becomes a little stronger, more deeply graven. Once a Redskin, always a Redskin.

Mr. Wayne H. Kincaid Returns to Assume Helm

Mr. Howard Thrall and Mr. Wayne H. Kincaid, in their new roles as vice-principal and principal, discuss the problems of scheduling classes for next year's Redskins.

As educators, club sponsors, counselors, or administrators, the Manual faculty works with all Redskins in the classroom and in activities. Heading the 130 faculty members is the once Manual Science Department Head, Mr. Wayne H. Kincaid, who returned from a three-year stay at Northwest High School as a vice-president to be Manual's seventh principal.

At the first faculty party of the year, a chicken dinner at the Garfield Park shelter house, retiring Vice-principal Noble Poole was guest of honor.

Busy in professional activities, two Manual teachers headed educational organizations. Mr. Edward Green, English teacher, served as president of the Indianapolis Education Association with thirteen delegates from the faculty backing him up. Elected "prexy" of the English Teachers Club of Greater Indianapolis was Mr. Richard Blough, Head of the English Department. Mr. Blough attended the convention of National Council of Teachers of English.

Sparking the Redskin spirit here at home, our faculty really went "all the way." On three occasions the more athletically inclined men teachers, the "Faculty Fogies," met the basketball challenge of the "Redheads," women basketball team; the WIFE "Good Guys"; and Manual's own Roines boys.

A fresh coat of paint gave the Manual classrooms and halls a new look this year. Mr. Franklin Fisher, vice-principal in charge of building and grounds, talks with Mr. Richard Davenport, supervising painter, about the colors available for use in this office.

Principal Wayne H. Kincaid Installs Officers

Three years of learning, working, and "growing up" led some 500 seniors to a flurry of campaign posters and speeches. Class officers were elected early in the year and began organizing succeeding activities.

Under President Harry Ragsdale, the Class of '67 celebrated "their" day sporting red-emblem-on-white armbands. An informal dance in the Cafeteria concluded "Senior Day" events.

Turnabout Day found Dave Potter, Jeanine Kent, and Vangie Baker serving as "sit-ins" for Principal Wayne H. Kincaid and Vice-principals Franklin Fisher and Howard Thrall. Janice Bramlett and Bob Smithers served in the Optimist Club's Downtown Turnabout Day. The Parent-pupil Conference and College Night presented future opportunities.

As a switch from the more serious side, seniors "promenaded" into spring social activities at the annual Square Dance. Talented members of the '67 Class made their final Manual stage appearances in Redskin Revue and the Senior Class Play.

Rounding out a hectic but fun-filled year, Vespers, Commencement, and the Senior Prom assured that these four memorable years were worthwhile.

Harry Ragsdale, Senior Class president, accepts the congratulations of Principal Wayne H. Kincaid at installation ceremonies in Senior Home Room. Vice-president Karen Clark, Secretary Cathy Hafer, and Treasurer Paulette Brehob stand by.

Officers, Rings, Activities Spotlight Juniors

Sparkles and lights adorn the Junior Christmas Tree as Secretary Marianne Hedges, President Larry Morwick, Treasurer Jody Hafer, and Vice-president Tina Pickard add final touches.

Some 450 juniors returned to school in September ready and eager to take on the responsibilities of being upperclassmen, and enthusiastically donned their class rings, symbol of their status. They met on September 14 when they decided to change their "tactics" and follow the Seniors' method of electing class officers. Candidates submitted written qualifications and were screened by Mr. Willard Henderson, new Junior Class sponsor.

"Athletically" speaking, President Larry Morwick played pretty tough guard on the gridiron, while fullback Jim McDonald and end Jim Shadbolt helped lead the team to victory many times. Lenny Brown displayed his fine running ability in track.

The traditional Junior Christmas Tree was decorated in Yuletide finery on December 12, tenth period. Afterward, the juniors adjourned to the Cafeteria for their annual Christmas dance.

Class members donned their fancy dresses, suits, ties, and carnations for parading around campus on Junior Recognition Day, March 8. Tenth period the Top Ten Juniors were named and gold keys were awarded to them by Principal Wayne Kincaid.

The juniors, looking very grown-up in their evening gowns and white dinner jackets, attended the prom at the Indiana University Medical Center; reigning were the Junior Prom King and Queen. What a finale to a wonderful third year as Redskins!

Dulcena Pitcher, Joe Huff, and Terry Gardner proudly show their newly acquired Junior Class rings to Mr. Willard Henderson, class sponsor. Rings arrived in the early fall to the delight of their wearers.

Redskins heading out toward Madison Avenue Freeway are greeted by a veritable park of scenery. Bordered by the busy thoroughfare, Garfield Park, and the creek winding along Pleasant Run Parkway, the walk home on a sunny spring afternoon doesn't seem far at all.

Advertising

As we are molded to fit the "profile of a Redskin," Manualites become the kind of persons a community welcomes. Growing to be mature citizens — future consumers and employees — we take our places in the cultural and economic progress of our city. Recognizing this, neighboring business friends invite our patronage by placing their ads in our yearbook.

During our four years as Manualites, we are each molded into the person of a "Redskin." Our teachers aid by encouraging us in our studies; our activities help by making us assume responsibilities; and our fellow pupils assist by providing congenial companionships and lasting friendships. We watch Manual grads and retired teachers return to our school year after year for sports events, student productions, and the annual birthday party. This loyalty is contagious and we soon come to know that we too have become fitted into the
